MORANExperience Working for Us*

Results Delivered for The Coast:

Ladies and gentleman, as you all know, my campaign has remained POSITIVE, always focusing on the many great things we have accomplished for District 46.

For nearly 90 days, however, the attacks on my political policies, personal business, livelihood, honesty, integrity, and my family have reached a point where I can no longer remain silent.

I, personally, and the business that I have spent 36 years building have been continuously attacked through vicious lies, distortions, and childish cartoons. This negativity has reached a new low, and the people of DISTRICT 46 need and deserve better.

The qualities of a true leader and statesman are many, but first and foremost of these is CHARACTER. Everything he does is based on the principals of good, honest hard work and the belief that true success comes from these principals and not from tearing down the reputation of someone else, all for personal ambition.

It continues to be the greatest honor of my life to be your Senator and to serve as a solid, positive driving force for our District and the Mississippi Gulf Coast. I am asking for your continued support and your vote on AUGUST 6th.

Comfortable passengers

MAKE ROAD TRIPS EASY

SEA COAST ECHO

Road trips can create memories to last a lifetime. No matter how many songs may be downloaded on your phone or how interesting your passengers are, boredom can strike after a few hours in the car. With that in mind, the Mississippi Department of Transportation (MDOT) offers tips to make your next road trip as comfortable as possible.

“Road trips can be fun for the whole family, but long hours on the road can be draining for all,” said Melinda McGrath, P.E., MDOT executive director. “Packing a few items to keep drivers and passengers comfortable is always a great idea.”

When packing for your next trip, consider items to entertain each passenger depending on age and interests. Books and magazines can serve as great ways to make the time pass. Crossword puzzles or word searches can keep minds active as well. Drive boredom away by turning on a podcast. To accommodate children, include a coloring book or a small hand-held gaming device to keep them content for miles at a time.

Classic travel games such as “20 Questions” or “I-Spy” are other options that will keep passengers entertained.

In addition to entertainment on your next road trip, consider packing:

Water and snacks, maybe even a little caffeine for those long stretches on the highway.

Blankets and pillows so passengers can nap comfortably.

Tissues, disinfectant wipes and paper towels.

A cell phone charger.

“Having comfortable passengers, especially when traveling with children, makes for more alert and focused drivers,” McGrath said. “Always make sure to drive smart and pay attention to arrive safely at your destination.”

For longer road trips, remember to take breaks and stretch your legs every couple of hours.

In addition to these road trip tips, MDOT offers free travel resources — MDOTtraffic.com and MDOT Traffic app — to help make your vacation easier.

MDOTtraffic.com not only gives you the most current travel and traffic conditions, but also shows the locations of rest areas and welcome centers in Mississippi. Use MDOTtraffic.com to avoid construction zones and traffic delays too.

Download the MDOT Traffic App to access real-time traffic information on the go.

Research reveals that people are more absorbed and attentive when they read newspaper content.

No matter how The Sea Coast Echo captures a reader’s attention, we are remarkably successful at keeping it. An NRS survey says newspaper readers are more relaxed than TV viewers and radio listeners and less likely to be multi-screening. In fact, the 36 million who pick up a paper spend over an hour reading and don’t multi-screen at all. Nothing works like The Echo works.

The marina's proposed dimensions would be about 700 feet deep and 200 feet wide, Lagasse said.

Smith added that when he was in Jackson and brought up the boat launch, he said the Mississippi Development Authority “liked the idea.”

According to mississippi.org, the Gulf Coast

The GCRF Advisory Board is expected to review and score the applications received by the Aug. 2 deadline and pres-

Society to see what they knew. The president said they had some documentation on the house and he naturally asked, “May I come down and copy your paperwork?”

And she said, “Indeed not. We don’t just let anyone rummage through our papers.”

Gray didn’t like being “just anyone” so he approached the six society members at lunch and, despite a chilly reception, he managed to leave with a membership and title of first vice president. Later that year in December 1985, the society held a rally on the beach to celebrate the Battle of Bay St. Louis.

Two cannons were fired, drinks were served and the historical society swelled to 16 members by the end of the evening.

At that point, Gray decided a newsletter was appropriate for an active society. Funding was scarce but he used whatever was on hand.

“We owned a typewriter, a US Royal, one of those big old clunky things, but it had no W key, so if you wrote William you had to call him Bill. You had to be very careful of the word you used. For many months I put out a newsletter every month typed on that old typewriter and I had to type 17 copies, 16 for the members and one for the file, because I wasn’t going to mail out a carbon copy. So, finally I bought a little word processing machine, the first computer I ever touched.”

The society met in restaurants and, before long, Gray began searching for a house to rent to establish a home for its records.

“A little house next to the County Courthouse on Main Street had been abandoned for years. It had grown up in weeds, had no electricity, no sewerage, no water.”

There were 16 grandchildren who were heirs to the abandoned house. Gray wrote a letter to the patriarch of the family, Judge Allen Lobrano in Point a la Hache, Louisiana. The judge passed away before answering Charles but his heirs found Charles’ letter on which the Judge had written, “Give the little house to the historical society.”

It took plenty of work, but the group finally got the house in shape. During the renovation they added space to accommodate various needs.

The Lobrano House wasn’t the only thing that grew rapidly.

“We went from 16 to nearly 1,000 members before Katrina. We had five computers going and we had lots of volunteers. We photographed every house in BSL and were photographing Waveland when the storm hit.”

Katrina swept away Charles’ Beachwood Hall and his warehouse on Washington Street. Although damaged, the little house on Cue Street was repairable.

“This little building was off its foundation on the front. The roof was gone, the ceiling was down, and the rugs were soaked, but the computers were dry.

Again, renovations got the house back in shape. And, they didn’t lose a single document that we weren’t able to reprint or air dry or iron and restore.

The society knew they had dodged a bullet and so easily could have lost everything. The board approached Charles about buying flood insurance.

“I told them, no, we don’t need insurance. All that will do is buy us a crate of paper. We need our documents digitized. So, instead of insurance we bought scanners. Even today we have people scanning almost full-time. Almost every document we own now is safely in the cloud where it can be retrieved from anywhere.”

Gray has steered the society for 33 years now and has finally settled into the last position he’ll hold in the society.

“I have served in every single position on the board. Our by-laws required that they keep moving me from one position to the other. I’ve been president, vice president, secretary, treasurer and historian. After about three or four times as president, I said we need some new ideas in here and I will not accept the presidency again. So, I went on vacation for two weeks and came back and they said, ‘Oh, we have a new executive director for life. Guess who?’”

The society is as vibrant as anyone could hope for and Gray is proud of the work being done, all by donated labor and devotion.

“Our website is one of the finest websites in America. I have a friend who is a computer expert. She made us a new one. It’s extraordinary, one of the easiest computer websites to work in the nation. And she is currently rewriting our photograph file. If you type in an address it will bring up every photograph we have of that particular address. We have 30, 40, 50, 60 pictures of some places dating back 150 years.”

Gray believes everyone who has lived in the county deserves a one-page profile on the website, no matter the difficulty.

Gray and the volunteers he leads are passionate about history and documenting it for future generations, as well as sharing it with the current residents of Hancock County.

Their cemetery tour draws around 800 people every year. He also leads school groups on walking tours downtown, regaling students with stories of houses and families long gone, civil war battles, and perhaps a ghost story or two.

Gray has led the society through tumultuous times and yet today the Lobrano House sits on Cue Street as if it’s always been there, unchanged through time.

The documents inside, though, tell a different story; a story of Cue Street, Main Street and nearly every street in the county through recorded history.

If history repeats itself, as the saying goes, the Society will have the documentation to prove it, and Hancock County will have Gray to thank for it.

The Merchants of Hancock County: Part 2

By 1900, the population of Hancock County was 11,886, which supported many relatively small merchants.

With a population of 2857, Bay St. Louis could offer a shopper a variety of stores from which to choose.

Baston A. Levy had a large dry goods store at the corner of Main and Front (Beach Blvd.) Streets. He carried a fresh, clean line of dry goods, fancy goods, notions, furnishings, hats, and shoes.

Directly across the street, Frank Taconi operated a grocery, which also provided wine and food for fishing boats.

The previously mentioned Kellar store and the Olivari stores sold general merchandise at the “head of the bluff” (foot of Washington Street). Nearby W.H. Yenni owned a dry goods store.

His wife was an excellent milliner who produced large and luscious ladies hats, adorned with bows, roses, forgetme-nots, and veils. Lucien M. Gex had a large four thousand square foot general merchandise store at the corner of Hancock and Good Children (Sycamore) Streets. Gex bought fish from the local fishermen and sent it wholesale to New Orleans buyers by train. There were five drugstores, one of which was de Montluzin’s Drug Store.

In addition to filling prescriptions, the store also served nectar and cream soda as a popular summertime refreshment.

William Albert McDonald (1866-1944) moved to Bay St. Louis from Holly Springs, MS and purchased the Bay Grain Company near the train depot in 1904. His early business sold groceries, feed, farm supplies, and Owensboro wagons.

In 1925 “Mr. W.A.” as he was called built a store at the corner of Toulme and Easterbrook Streets. That building still stands.

Over time McDonald increased his inventory which later included feed, saddles, harness, farm supplies, building materials, and tobacco. His son John joined the family enterprise in 1927, which was subsequently incorporated as W.A. McDonald and Son.

Later the business developed wholesale groceries and tobacco. It was not very long before McDonald was sending his merchandise to other towns in Mississippi and then by rail throughout the South from Atlanta to Fort Worth.

A Mississippi State Stamp Tax Law ended his wholesale tobacco business. Nevertheless, the wholesale grocery line evolved as the largest part of the business.

In 1938, the eldest son, C.C. McDonald, joined the family business, and the name of the corporation was amended to W.A. McDonald and Sons. With both sons in the business, the family enterprise expanded further now encompassing building materials, hardware, furniture, and appliances. W. A. McDonald died in 1944.

Wicker Advances Pro-life Cause in the Senate

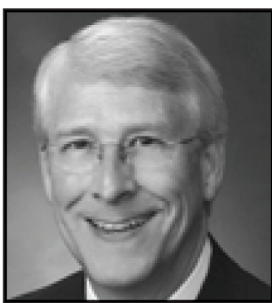

Five Bills Would Protect Every Person’s Inalienable Rights

The founding of America was based on revolutionary, self-evident truths. Every human being has God-given and inalienable rights to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. The order is not an accident. Without life, the latter two are not possible. But, when it comes to abortion, our country fails to protect the lives of the most vulnerable among us: unborn children.

Upholding the sanctity of life has always been one of my most important priorities as a public official. As a state senator, I authored legislation giving Mississippi the strongest restrictions on abortion of any state in the country. I continue that fight today with five bills I recently introduced or cosponsored in the United States Senate.

Pro-life Legislation

The first of these bills, the “Life at Conception Act of 2019,” declares all unborn children to be persons with the same dignity and rights as every other human being. This is a common-sense observation backed up as scientific fact.

The 14th Amendment to the United State Constitution prohibits depriving any “person” of life without due process. The Supreme Court’s decision in Roe v. Wade did not answer the question of whether or not the unborn are persons, denying this legal defense to those in the womb. The “Life at Conception Act of 2019” would answer that question and extend 14th Amendment protections to expected children.

Most Americans, even those who describe themselves as “pro-choice,” do not want taxpayer dollars to be used for abortions. Such funding is currently prohibited by an annual adoption of the Hyde Amendment. I am glad House Democrats were unsuccessful in eliminating the Hyde Amendment’s protections during recent budget negotiations, but this debate should not have to be repeated every year. The “No Taxpayer Funding for Abortion Act” would make the Hyde Amendment permanent, requiring all groups receiving federal money to certify they will not provide or fund abortions.

PROTECTING PATIENTS

Health-care providers have obligations to do no harm to any patient, especially if they are publically funded. That includes patients at any stage of development, including expectant mothers, their babies, the elderly, and the disabled. The “Patients’ Rights Act” would complement the previous measures by making it illegal for a federally-funded facility to deny care intentionally to those in need.

A similar prohibition in a bill I introduced called “The Patients First Act” would end federal support for the exploitation and destruction of human embryos for medical research. This bill would encourage research using adult stem cells, which have more potential for breakthroughs than embryonic stem cells.

MAKING GOOD ON THE FOUNDING’S PROMISE

The pro-life cause is growing stronger. I have

NEW Farm Bill Conservation Assistance Effort Begins

Wildlife Mississippi has begun an expanded effort to help private landowners in Mississippi by building on its existing landowner outreach efforts and more fully assisting them. This effort, in cooperation with the Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS), will enhance and expand outreach for Farm Bill conservation programs throughout Mississippi. Recently, Steven Byrd, formerly of the NRCS, joined the staff of Wildlife Mississippi as a private lands conservation specialist.

Wildlife Mississippi’s goals are simple. We want to: 1) expand participation in Farm Bill conservation programs; 2) develop an outreach and education program that combines the resources and expertise of Wildlife Mississippi and the NRCS; 3) improve outreach to historically underserved populations of farmers, ranchers, and forest owners in Mississippi; and 4) increase enrollment of marginal lands in Farm Bill conservation programs. Enrollment of marginal lands would decrease the outlay of public funds for crop insurance, disaster payments, and other taxpayer-funded payments while improving farm efficiency.

We will assist private landowners, public agencies, non-profit conservation organizations, and others to meet local, regional, and national goals for improving water quality; improving or maintaining ecological processes and functions; enhancing wildlife populations; and meeting landscape-level conservation priorities and NRCS initiatives, including the Gulf of Mexico Initiative, Longleaf Pine Initiative, the Prairie Grasslands Initiative, and the Mississippi River Basin Initiative.

Wildlife Mississippi, a non-profit conservation organization now in its 22nd year of operation, has protected, restored, or enhanced more than 500,000 acres of wildlife habitat in the state. We specialize in private lands conservation and work to balance conservation and economic vitality while striving to improve the state’s quality of life.

His previous experience with the NRCS, and growing up and continuing to work our small family farm in northeast Mississippi, has taught him first-hand the necessity of appropriate conservation and management. Utilizing Farm Bill practices and programs to achieve ecological, economical, and personal goals for your property and/or operation is an excellent tool available to all landowners for maximizing land potential.

If you are interested in protecting, restoring, and/or enhancing coastal habitats, longleaf pine, native prairie/grasslands, and/or bottomland hardwoods/wetlands through any conservation programs, please email him at sbyrd@wildlifemiss.org or call 662.820.9720.

Volleyball starts the athletic calendar with jamboree at OLA today

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

The high school volleyball season is ready to serve with a jamboree set for today at Father Peter Mockler Gymnasium on the Our Lady Academy campus beginning at 10am. The teams involved include the host team Crescents, Hancock Lady Hawks, Ocean Springs Lady Greyhounds, Oak Grove Lady Warriors, Vancleave Lady Bulldogs and the Biloxi Lady Indians. The jamboree will feature each team involved taking on each of the other teams for one set. The first four sets will be played to 25 while the fifth set will go to 15. The jamboree host is OLA which has become the standard bearer for high school volleyball in Mississippi winning 13 state championships (2002-03, 2006-09, 2012-18) and 20 consecutive division titles. The Crescents have played in 16 state finals in the last 19 years. Hancock is a perennial Final Four team and has won two Class III state titles (2010, 2016). Vancleave is the current two-time defending Class II state champion. Ocean Springs and Oak Grove have also battled Hancock to be a Final Four member over the last five seasons while Biloxi is perhaps the most Improved team in the last three seasons. This season the MHSAA has expanded the classification system for volleyball to reflect the growing interest and popularity of the women's sport. Class IV will be made up of only 6A schools, Class III is only 5A schools, Class II is only 4A schools and Class I is made up of Class 1A/2A/3A schools. This classification system is very similar to the soccer classification system. In the coverage area, OLA will be Class I, Bay High will be Class II and Hancock will be Class IV. At the jamboree on Saturday, there will be one Class I team (OLA), one Class II team (Vancleave), and four Class IV teams (Hancock, Ocean Springs, Oak Grove, Biloxi). OLA is the last school to win an overall state championship in volleyball when they claimed the title in 2002 beating Southaven High School. A high school preview of the county's three high school squads will be forthcoming in a future issue. See you at the games!

Hancock Resource Center to be Community Award of Excellence recipient at Chamber Gala

SEA COAST ECHO

The Hancock County Community Development Foundation is proud to announce the Hancock Resource Center as the recipient of the 2019 Community Award of Excellence. Accepting the award on behalf of the center will be HRC President Rhonda Rhodes and Board President, Kelsey Johnson. They will be recognized along with the Top 10 Outstanding Citizens and Industrial Award of Excellence recipient at the Hancock Chamber's Annual Gala. Tickets are still available for purchase through hancockchamber.org or in person at the Chamber offices. Individual tickets are $80 and table sponsorships start at $1,200.

The Foundation is honored to recognize the Hancock Resource Center with the Community Award of Excellence," said Angie Kothmann, Hancock County Community Development Foundation Board President. "They began under the Foundation's umbrella and have absolutely flourished through their works and their growth."

Established in 2006 through the Governor's Commission on Recovery, the Hancock Resource Center began operating independently of the Chamber of Commerce in 2008. They hired their first employees that year, and now have a team of 20 who serve about 1,200 families per year through ten programs. Their programs set many on the road to self-sufficiency, including veterans, youth and domestic abuse survivors.

"Receiving this award is really special," said Rhodes. "We've been a part of the community since Katrina and have grown along with the community as we've recovered. Being recognized for our work is a big honor for our team and means so much coming from the organization that got us started."

The Hancock Chamber established the Hancock County Community Development Foundation as a 501 (c) 3 public charity in May 2006 to act as an umbrella organization for 20 non-profit causes for projects with a broad community focus. The specific purposes of incorporation are to sponsor and support educational and community programs that stimulate job creation, foster small business growth, workforce development, historic preservation and the arts.

Merchants

In 1945, John A. McDonald (1907-1979) returned from World War II where he was a Lieutenant Commander in the Navy. A wood product company, Imperial Wood Products, represented continued commercial expansion with retail, wholesale, and manufacturing divisions. By 1952 the company had fifty-two employees. John McDonald was a very hard worker who represented the second generation of capable McDonald merchants who instinctively understood business and marketing. He also had the wisdom just at the right time to branch out and become a real estate developer.

He founded the John McDonald Realty Co. which is currently prospering. Under the management of Jim McDonald, the son of C.C. McDonald, the McDonald and Sons hardware store closed in 2017.

The W.A. McDonald and Sons Incorporation represented a local, successful, multigenerational business that prospered from the 20th century into the 21st. The McDonald family were bold, innovative merchants who were able to adjust to ever changing market conditions both positive and negative.

Their evolution from retail to wholesale was instructive in analyzing their enormous financial success in the first half of the 20th century. They achieved economies of scale compared to smaller competitors. Nonetheless, large national conglomerate brands such as Lowe's and Home Depot eventually drove local businesses like W.A. McDonald and Sons out of the marketplace.

Another family generated business which began in the 20th century and moved into the 21st is Hubbard's Waveland Hardware. Robert (Manny) G. Hubbard, Jr. (1907-1974) opened a local business in 1946 which morphed into the Waveland Lumber Co./Hubbard's Hardware Store on Nicholson Avenue.

In addition to his business, Manny Hubbard served as President of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors. He was elected from Beat 5 (Waveland and Bay St. Louis) for sixteen years from 1951-1967.

At that time, county affairs were in a sad state of neglect. Under Hubbard's stewardship, the infrastructure of Hancock County was drastically upgraded by shrewd source financing with a succession of grants, loans, and corporate bonds.

Roads and bridges were built, and public improvement programs such as the hospital and Port Bienville were accomplished. Previous excessive bonded indebtedness came under more prudent and honest management.

In conclusion, the merchants of Hancock County, the local bankers, the lumber barons, the captains of the seafood industry, newspaper editors, and assorted entrepreneurs evolved in the county as a mercantile elite that were very successful stewards of the local economy. Over the last two hundred years county businesses have adapted to the industrial revolution in the lumber and seafood industries. The transportation revolution brought on by the steamboats and then later by railroads has allowed for much improved supply chain management for merchants.

During the 20th century merchants have evolved from retail to wholesale with greatly expanded commercial enterprises. Since 1970 the local economy in Hancock County and other counties in America have witnessed significant expansion and cultural change. Unfortunately, there has been some loss of local control of main street businesses.

Nevertheless, the merchants of Hancock County continue to play a vital role in the remarkable success story of our economy and the enviable quality of life enjoyed on this section of the "American Riviera."

been encouraged to see larger crowds at the March for Life in D.C. every year – including hundreds of Mississippians. Public opinion polls are moving in the right direction, and scientific advances have the potential to persuade more Americans of the truths underpinning each of these pieces of legislation.

The Supreme Court's decision in 1973 should not bind the American people from extending civil rights protections and making corrections in the future. Those of us who advocate for this cause understand we are involved a long fight.

GIRLS JUST WANNA HAVE FUN

Things have a funny way of working out. A few days ago, I completely messed up a charter booking. I didn't catch the mistake until the very last second. The forecast was calling for light and variable winds, and the fishing has been outstanding. I was NOT gonna miss such a great opportunity to fish.

I haven't fished with my daughter Margot in weeks(too long). She was scheduled to be with the sitter, Laura Grace Ritten aka "LG". I figured why not bring the both of em fishing?

LG, like most folks, grew up here, loves to fish, but hardly ever gets to go. She had more fun than any of us. She is about to head back to school, up in New York, so this was a big time for her.

We left a little later than Capt Kenny, but it worked in our favor. Kenny only had one customer on his boat. By the time we met up, Kenny's customer had just about caught all he could keep. When we got close to their boat, we could see and hear the finger mullet getting terrorized, 50 feet from his boat.

We nosed our boat right next to Kenny, and the gals

SHORE THING FISHING REPORT

by Capt. Sonny Schindler went to work. LG was reeling in trout and redfish as fast as I could bait the hooks.

The live baits, under the Boat Monkey Popping cork, were getting annihilated. Margot assisted in many different areas. One minute she reeled in fish, the next minute she netted fish.

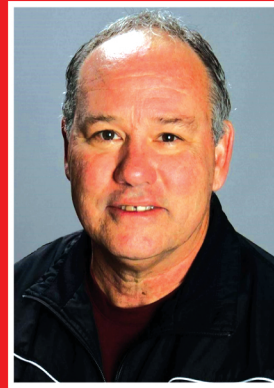

She would take a random Oreo cookie break, and occasionally cheer on LG, or take pictures. She just enjoys hanging out with her buddy LG, the fishing was just a bonus.

It was one of those days, and will hopefully stay in my memory forever. LG has been such a positive role model for my daughter. My wife, Margot and I kinda look at LG as Margot's "older/cool sister". Being able to get those gals on the water, is just another amazing adventure for those two. We looked for triple tails on the way home, but didn't see the first one. I could have seen 4. Margot passed out on the back seat, and LG was upfront updating her photos on her phone. I couldn't have been more proud of those two ladies. What a great day!

United Way of South Mississippi announces 2019-2020 Campaign Pacesetters

SEA COAST ECHO

Thirteen businesses are serving as pacesetters for the 2019 giving campaign of United Way of South Mississippi, which uses donor dollars to improve the overall quality of life in its service area of Hancock, Harrison, Pearl River and Stone counties. These ambitious pacesetters set the standard for community support by locking in their campaign donations during August, one month before the campaign officially begins, said Kathy Springer, UWSM CEO.

“Pacesetters give early to spark our annual campaign, raising the first dollars of the year that help us make a difference in our communities,” said Springer. “Pacesetter giving inspires others to make a difference for their fellow citizens.” Pacesetters include Bay St. Louis-Waveland School District, CenterPoint Energy, City of Pass Christian, Coast Coca-Cola Bottling Company United, Hancock Whitney, Harrah’s Gulf Coast, Merit Health Biloxi, Mississippi Power Company, Pass Christian School District, Port of Gulfport, SouthGroup Insurance, Target Corporation and United Parcel Service. The 2019 campaign will officially begin with an 8 a.m. kickoff breakfast, themed “Be Heroic, Live United,” on Sept. 6 at the IP in Biloxi. During the breakfast, the results of pacesetter giving will be announced. According to Springer, the 2019 campaign goal is $1 million with 99 cents of each donated dollar reinvested in the community. The bulk of these funds go to community impact grants, which are two-year gifts awarded to community nonprofit agencies working on issues in health, education, family services and support, and financial stability. Donations also benefit community initiatives and shorter-term emergency and emerging needs grants, such as recent funds to help flood victims in Pearl River County. “Through our partner agencies and community initiatives, we are improving lives and community conditions by building and mobilizing resources,” said Springer. Businesses interested in running a campaign for their employees may contact LeAnna Morgan

Saucier, director of resource development, at (228) 896-2213 or by email at lmorgan@unitedwaysm.org. To learn more about your local United Way or to donate, visit www.unitedwaysm.org. About United Way of South Mississippi United Way of South Mississippi, established in 1992, fights for measurable and lasting improvements in the education, financial stability and health of all people in Hancock, Harrison, Pearl River and Stone counties. South Coast Electric Division of Beier Integrated Systems announced as 2109 Industrial Award of Excellence recipient

SEA COAST ECHO

Hancock County Port & Harbor Commission, is honored to announce South Coast Electric Division of Beier Integrated Systems as the 2019 recipient of the Industrial Award of Excellence. Accepting the award on behalf of the company is Ralph Lindfors, Vice President and General Manager. They will be recognized along with the Top 10 Outstanding Citizens and Community Award of Excellence recipient at the Hancock Chamber’s Annual Gala. Tickets are still available for purchase through hancockchamber.org or in person at the Chamber offices. Individual tickets are $80 and table sponsorships start at $1,200.

“We’re so thankful and humbled to be recognized for our role in the community,” said Lindfors. “We are deeply committed to the community and to keeping these highly specialized technical positions right here in Hancock County.” Established in 2003, South Coast Electric builds high quality, electrical switchgear products which outfit marine vessels of all sizes with electrical and communications systems. Their technology plays a pivotal role for soldiers the world over, keeping our deployed military safe and enhancing our national security at home. Beier Integrated Systems of Mandeville, Louisiana acquired South Coast Electric in 2016 in a move that would not only round out their product offerings and streamline their processes, but keep 16 highly technical and specialized jobs in Hancock County. “We’ve provided stable employment for the community for a number of years,” Lindfors added. “Most of our employees have been with us since the beginning and live as close as Lower Bay Road. We’re proud that we are able retain these workers here in Hancock County, versus having them leave the market to use their skill set. I’m also grateful to them for their contributions – they’re really the ones who made this award possible.” Janel Carothers, Chief Development Officer at the Hancock County Port & Harbor Commission, says the Port & Harbor Commission is proud to present this award to South Coast Electric. “This is a well-deserved honor,” Carothers said. “The Port & Harbor Commission chose South Coast Electric Division as this year’s recipient to show our thanks for being model tenants of Port Bienville for over 16 years.”

Below are a few of the reasons we'd like you to vote on August 6th and support our son, Kevin.

Mississippi Reports Hepatitis A Outbreak, Joins Surrounding States in Fighting National Epidemic

SEA COAST ECHO

The Mississippi State Department of Health (MSDH) is reporting a hepatitis A outbreak in Mississippi, joining surrounding states and others across the country in fighting this national epidemic.

"An outbreak occurs when we see an increased number of cases greater than what is normally expected over time," said MSDH State Epidemiologist Dr. Paul Byers. "Since April we've seen 23 cases in Mississippi. We investigate all reported cases to identify their contacts and provide vaccination."

Hepatitis A is a contagious liver disease that can be spread when a person ingests the virus through food or drink that is contaminated with the feces of an infected person or through close, personal contact (including sexual contact) with an infected person; including sexual contact and sharing or handling objects with someone who is infected.

Symptoms of hepatitis A include nausea, diarrhea, and vomiting; jaundice (yellowing of the skin and eyes); and stomach pain, low appetite and fever.

"In Mississippi, our most at-risk populations are those who use those who use recreational drugs, are currently in jail or were recently in jail, men who have sex with men, and those with unstable housing or who are homeless," said Dr. Byers. "Other states are seeing similar trends."

Hepatitis A can be prevented through a vaccine. Other prevention measures include practicing strong hygiene habits such as thoroughly washing your hands after using the bathroom.

We are strongly recommending that all persons who are at higher risk get hepatitis A vaccine" said Byers. "Hepatitis A vaccine can be obtained through your provider, pharmacist and at all County Health Departments for uninsured or underinsured persons," said Dr. Byers.

For more information on hepatitis A, visit the MSDH website at HealthyMS.com/hepA.

MDE Office of Early Childhood Launches Family Engagement Guidance and Toolkit

SEA COAST ECHO

The Mississippi Department of Education (MDE) Office of Early Childhood launched the family engagement framework, or guidance, and toolkit to assist schools and communities in building partnerships with families to improve educational outcomes.

The goals for the Mississippi Family Engagement Framework are to encourage and empower all families to participate in their children's education, to increase student success, to build leadership and support, and to develop community investment and partnerships. Schools and families can use the strategies and activities included with the framework to build stronger relationships with their schools, which can lead to increased positive student outcomes.

Family engagement is a critical component of a high-quality education, and the MDE values the roles administrators, teachers, families, and communities play in promoting positive outcomes for students, said Dr. Carey Wright, state superintendent of education.

IS YOUR RELIGION LIKE WAITING IN A FAST FOOD LINE?

BY GARY ANDREWS
GARY@GADEVOTIONALS.COM

On occasions when I am waiting in line at a fast food restaurant I sometimes wonder if people treat their religion like they do their food. Our world has become a hurry up society and we want everything at our finger tips at our time of need.

Most of you will agree that by the time you receive your food from many of the fast food chains you are going to get food that has been prepared earlier and sat under warming lamps until sold. This sometimes causes the food to taste old or become hard from sitting under the light too long. Don't get me wrong; I don't believe any of these food establishments want any of their food to go out the window that is not hot or fresh, however on many occasions people are in such a hurry for their food they accept what you have instead of waiting for the fresher prepared food. When we receive cold food, stale food, or food that is not up to par we, as consumers, become agitated and take our frustrations out on the waiters or waitresses and it is not entirely their fault.

Is our religion like this? Do we expect to go to the altar and want God to handle our problems at that moment instead of giving him time to really solve the problem? When we talk with our ministers, pastors, elders, deacons, and even our friends, do we expect them to handle our problems or guide us with the answers in a manner of minutes? Have we become so self-consumed in ourselves that we expect all answers to be right in front of us?

Many of us treat our salvation like that. We have accepted that Jesus is the one and only true God however, we expect Him to be at our beck and call at any time. It is true that He will talk to us and listen to us any time we call on Him. It is true that we can expect Him to answer our prayers and guide us in the right direction; however we need to realize that He is not like a fast-food serving line. He will answer every prayer but it will be in His time and not ours and all of His answers will be fresh for us to understand. He will never leave us wondering if or what we need to know is correct or not.

In John 14:6 Jesus tells us, "I am the way, the truth, and the life..." He will never treat us like some fast food restaurants and give us warmed over food for thought. He will always address our needs and guide us if we will trust Him and allow Him to be our guide. Remember what the psalmist says in Psalm 25:21, "Let integrity and uprightness preserve me, for I wait on you."

Prayer: Father God thank you for being my rock and salvation. I pray that I will never question your guidance and leadership. Amen. Gary Andrews is the author of Encouraging Words: 30-days in God's Word. To obtain a copy go to his website www.gadevotionals.com.

Pride of Barbados adds orange color to landscape

MSU EXTENSION SERVICE

While Pride of Barbados thrives in deserts and the tropics, I believe we could also appreciate its beauty in Mississippi landscapes.

I saw one of these plants showing off last week in Las Vegas, away from all the activity of the Strip. I gave presentations on various subjects at the annual American Society for Horticultural Science Annual meeting, including maintaining a work/life balance and my ongoing search for the elusive Long Beach Red Radish.

I also presented data we've been generating for the homeowner on growing vegetables in EarthBoxes.

Weatherwise, it was vastly different from Mississippi.

Even though the daytime temperatures were over 100 degrees, I really enjoyed the low humidity, in the 10% to 12% range. My wife told me 6.73 inches of rain fell on my Ocean Springs landscape in the span of two hours -- more than the 4.25 inches that falls on Las Vegas in a typical year.

Known botanically as Caesalpinia pulcherrima, the stunning plant I saw there has other common names like Peacock Flower and Mexican Bird of Paradise. Whatever you call this plant, it is absolutely beautiful.

The flowers are displayed in terminal clusters that have a pyramidal shape.

The individual flowers are a bright orange and red with a golden tinge on the petal edges. Each flower has attractive showy petals and a group of long, red stamens prominently extending outward. In a way, I find them very reminiscent of deciduous azaleas.

The oval-shaped leaflets are double compound and fern-like and can be up to 1 foot long. The branches, including the stems and petioles, can be a little prickly because of the sharp spines. Because of these spines, the plant is used as a barrier in its native Barbados and other Caribbean islands.

While this plant has a growth potential of up to 10 feet in its natural habitat, it won't get that big grown here.

Data suggests that this plant could be a hardy perennial in zone 8B, with the top dying back to the ground. But I'd be willing to bet that our cool and damp winters would be detrimental, and growing the plant as an annual would be a better option.

I'm going to consider growing it as a fast-growing annual in my large container garden. This will optimize the root zone

While Pride of Barbados thrives in deserts and the tropics, its beauty can be appreciated in Mississippi landscapes with the right preparation.

"The guidance and toolkit will provide schools and communities with the resources they need to encourage family participation in schools. Engaged families and communities are closely linked with successful schools and students," she said.

Research shows students with involved parents — regardless of income, background characteristics, or level of achievement — are more likely to do better in school. Partnership programs can increase student achievement, improve attendance and behavior, and promote positive social skills. When partnership practices are linked to school goals, such as improved reading, math or attendance, it increases opportunities for more families to become involved in ways that directly assist students' learning and development. "With this framework, Mississippi has emerged as a national leader in family engagement," said Jeff Capizzano, executive director of the Policy Equity Group in Washington, D.C. "By aligning the state's family engagement initiatives across the early childhood and K-12 systems, the framework is an incredible tool to support MDE's vision for empowered families, student success, and strong community partnerships."

In 2017, the Council of Chief State School Officers (CCSSO) provided a family engagement technical assistance opportunity for states, including Mississippi, to coordinate the development of the framework.

"The importance of addressing family, school and community engagement in a systemic way is essential in maximizing it as a strategy to child development, student achievement and school improvement. Mississippi is one of the first states in the country to release a birth through Grade 12 Family Engagement Framework. This framework will guide statewide efforts and become a tool to build capacity of both educators and families as partners in the education of children, as well as maximizing already exciting family engagement initiatives funded by the W.K. Kellogg Foundation," said Vito J. Borello, executive director of the National Association for Family, School and Community Engagement.

Pearlington Impact Association hosts annual Back-to-School Bash

Photos by Warren Gravois

Pearlington Impact Association on Saturday hosted its annual "Back to School Bash." The association gave away more than 200 school back packs and lots of school supplies, including binders, notebooks, tablets, pens, and pencils. The bash was held in the old Charles Murphy Gym near the Pearlington Public Library. The project is meant to bring families and neighbors together and help the children get ready for the new school year. Free food was in the offering with cotton candy, hamburgers, hot dogs, soft drinks, chips and music, as well as a petting zoo. Parents and kids enjoyed the event. The Pearlington Impact Association, a community development and improvement group was established after Katrina to help the devastated town recover. The association has taken on a central authoritative demeanor to continue sponsoring events in the community and fight for the betterment of Pearlington residents.

Dip into Some Delicious Dips

There are times when we do not want a full meal and the same old snacks are getting a bit redundant. It is time to whip up some dips which can be kept handy when that snack attack hits.

Most of us have had hummus made with chickpeas, but this version is made with black beans. It is a Latin America meets the Middle East rendition of classic hummus.

- BLACK BEAN HUMMUS
- 1 – 15 ounce can black beans, drained and rinsed
 - One fourth cup tahini
 - One fourth cup water

- 2 cloves garlic, peeled and crushed
 - One fourth cup lemon juice
 - 2 tablespoons olive oil
 - 1 teaspoon cumin
 - One fourth teaspoon cayenne pepper
- Add all ingredients to the bowl of a food processor and puree mixture for about two minutes or until smooth; stopping once or twice to scrape the sides of the bowl. Taste for seasoning; adding more salt if necessary. Remove to a serving bowl and serve with wedges of pita bread, pita chips, or carrot sticks. Can be served immediately or covered and chilled.
- Makes about 2 cups
- The next recipe is the always popular and tasty artichoke dip. Unfortunately, it needs to be served hot. This means we must anticipate the need for a snack a bit in advance. Do not use the more expensive lump crab meat, the claw meat will suffice.

- SEAFOOD-ARTICHOKE DIP
- 2 cans (about 14 ounces each) artichoke hearts, drained and chopped
 - 2 cups mayonnaise
 - 2 cups freshly grated Parmesan cheese
 - 1-pound crab meat, drained and flaked or
 - 1-pound cooked shrimp, coarsely chopped or
 - a combination of both
 - 1 teaspoon Tabasco
 - One half cup Panko, Japanese breadcrumbs
- Preheat oven to 325 degrees. Combine all ingredients except breadcrumbs and place in a

- lightly oiled 1- and one-half quart baking dish.
 - Sprinkle the Panko over the top of the mixture.
 - Bake for 20 minutes.
 - Serve with corn chip, crackers, or raw vegetables.
- Makes about 5 cups
- If you and your family are fans of curry, this next dip is for you. Make it as spicy as you like by adding more cayenne. This dip is also good as a spread for chicken sandwiches. It will keep refrigerated for up to a week.
- Easy Curry Dip
- 1 cup mayonnaise
 - 1 tablespoon grated onion
 - 1 clove garlic, peeled and crushed
 - 1 teaspoon curry powder
 - 1 teaspoon horseradish

- 1 teaspoon wine vinegar
 - One half teaspoon cayenne pepper
- Combine all ingredients well. Chill for at least three hours to allow the flavors to mingle. Serve with raw vegetables or naan.
- Makes 1 cup
- The final dip can be served with crisp slices of apples or pears, it is not necessary to peel them. Cookies can also be used as dippers. This is a tasty dip to serve when the children get home from school and want a snack.
- FRUIT AND NUT DIP
- 8 ounces cream cheese, softened
 - 1 cup sour cream
 - 2 tablespoons powdered sugar
 - 1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
 - 1 8 ounce can crushed

- pineapple, drained
 - 1 cup chopped dates, remove seeds before chopping
 - One half cup chopped toasted pecans
- Combine cream cheese, sour cream, powdered sugar, and vanilla in a mixing bowl, beat with an electric mixer until smooth. Fold in the dates and pecans. Cover and chill at least two hours. Serve with apple and pear slices or crisp cookies.
- Makes about 2 cups
- Give one of these dips a try when you are searching for an unusual and tasty snack.

All of us want the best for our community, but many social challenges that face South Mississippi affect us all in one way or another — whether it is child abuse or neglect, domestic violence, life-controlling addictions, the high rate of high-school drop outs, increasing poverty, etc.- when one is affected, we are all affected. We invite the Community Groups on the Gulf Coast as well as interested medical personnel to participate in improving the issues impacting poor birth outcomes. These include psycho-social issues such as prenatal care adequacy, maternal use of illegal substances, domestic violence, tobacco use, poverty, infant safety, transportation, birth spacing, family planning, education, employment, obesity, breast feeding, unsafe sleep practices, child abuse & neglect, sexually transmitted diseases, mental health support and the general health of women & their families. Lab Ignores Owner When Water Beckons

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: Near my house is a fenced park with a pond. When no one else is in the park, I'll let my black Lab, "Kerry," off of his leash to run free for a few minutes. However, he tends to run straight into the pond for a swim and won't come when I call him (he normally is very obedient). Then he's muddy and gross. What can I do to teach him to stay away from the water? — Eric S., Kissimmee, Florida

DEAR ERIC: Let me get this straight. You have a black Labrador Retriever, you're walking him next to a body of water, and you don't want him to jump into that water? That's a really tough order for Kerry to follow. Labs love water. They adore it. Natural bodies of water are their second home. (Baths are not so well-loved, unfortunately.) When you let him off his leash next to a pond, you've given him the biggest treat of his day. So it's really hard for him when you call him back, and he probably gets very willful. There's a disconnect happening that is confusing for him: Ultimate happiness by splashing in a pond makes his papa unhappy. He's not sure what to do. If you want a dog who's always obedient and also stays clean, then Kerry has to stay on a leash in this park. If you want a dog who's happy, give Kerry some water time. Maybe that water has to be somewhere else a little less muddy. Maybe you'll have to resign yourself to rinsing him off after time in the park. But find a middle ground where both of you are happy.

This handsome dude is JACK. Sadly, Jack was not reclaimed by his owner, so we are searching for a true forever family for this cute, 1 year old, Black Mouth Cur mix. He deserves a home where will be appreciated and regarded as part of the family. He is so sweet and eager to please, and wants nothing more than to be with people. Jack thrives on attention and affection, and he easily learned to sit and lie down at our recent adoption event. He is great with kiddos, so he would be an awesome pet for a family with children of any age. A single person or couple looking for a playful, fun best friend should waste no time in coming in and meeting Jack. He's your boy! We are unsure yet if he is house or crate trained, but he is very treat and praise motivated, so training Jack should be fairly easy. He walks well on a leash and harness. Come cuddle with him, soon. He is the sweetest, happiest boy, ever. For more information, call 228 466 4516, and visit Jack at the Hancock County Animal Shelter, 7175 Texas Flat Rd, Kiln, MS. You will fall in love with him. Visit our Facebook page, Hancock County Animal Shelter, MS, to see more pictures of Jack, and of the many other wonderful, adoptable animals waiting for their forever homes.

This is to give notice that the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission proposes to undertake the following:
PORT BIENVILLE INDUSTRIAL PARK METHANOL FACILITY, RAIL LINE EXTENSION, AND DOCK INSTALLATION PROJECT
The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission is requesting the use of U.S. Department of the Treasury Resources and Ecosystems Sustainability, Tourist Opportunities, and Revived Economies (RESTORE) Act entitlement funding for construction of an airport hangar facility and other associated amenities for the Port Bienville Industrial Park Methanol Facility, Rail Line Extension, and Dock Installation project.
In deciding whether to fund the proposed project, U.S. Department of the Treasury is obligated to follow requirements set forth by Section 2(a)(4) of Executive Order (E.O.) 11988 for Floodplain Management. This Notice of Intent is being provided in fulfillment of E.O. 11988.
The project site is located at Port Bienville Industrial Park (PBIP) in Pearllington, Hancock County, Mississippi. It is located approximately 1.34 miles south-southeast of Chef Menteur Highway (U.S. Highway 90), north of Port and Harbor Drive and west of Road G. The Port Bienville Industrial Canal is adjacent to the north of the project site.
The PBIP Methanol Facility, Rail Line Extension, and Dock Installation site is approximately 40.0 acres, all of which are located within the 100-year floodplain (Zone AE) as shown on Flood Insurance Rate Map (FIRM) Community Panels 28045C0402D and 28045C0406D (dated October 16, 2009). Measurements would be taken during construction work to ensure that construction is performed in a manner that minimizes any negative impact to the floodplain.
This request for comment is being submitted to the Mississippi Emergency Management Agency, Federal Emergency Management Agency, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, and Mississippi Department of Environmental Quality. Members of the public are invited to submit comments on the proposed activity. Additional information on the proposed activity is available to the public between the hours of 8:00 am and 5:00 pm, Monday through Friday at the following location:

On July 20., the Diamondhead Emerald Ballroom turned Red, White and Blue when the Krewe of Olympus turned it into our red, white and blue patriotic summer party to enjoy the hot, hot summer together. Lights, banners and flags filled the ballroom.

Krewe member Carlene Daboval sang God Bless America and member Retired Command Sergeant Major Paul Larsen sang the Ballad of the Green Berets to open the evenings festivities. New members were introduced by Betty Maxwell, Krewe President. Concluding that, the buffet was opened with traditional picnic food. Music for dancing was provided by Ronnie Hammons. Members were encouraged to bring food items for the Hancock County Food Pantry.
